A GOOD INVESTMENT!

The Dominion Government will spend a considerable sum of money in the next few years in the country this year. Chiefly in aid to navigation of the lakes and rivers, in making safety surveys, locating standard claims on official survey maps, and in improving aids to air barriers and winter aviation bases.

Mining is fast becoming Canada's leading

"growth" industry. During the past few years it has acted as a great stimulant to the Canadian economy. In 1935, manufacturing and agriculture were the only two industries where production was greater than mineral production.

Last year for the first time in Canadian history,

the export trade in metallic minerals was more than the export trade in agriculture. Metallic copper totalled $19,644,422 as compared to $197,268,231, for agricultural exports.

Another interesting fact, which has direct bearing on the northern mineral fields, is that metallic production in 1935 was more than 13 per cent above the 1929 figure. Canada's mineral production is now over the $100,000,000 mark.

Any encouragement of Government can aid to the development of Canada's mineral wealth, particularly in the matter of transportation and geological surveys, which are of value to governments and beyond the scope of private enterprise, is highly desirable and to be commended.

GIVE THE TREES A CHANCE

The city's engineering department is planting

1,500 trees this year on the boulevards. This does not mean the addition of so many miles of newly-tree-lined streets. It only means that something is being done to replace trees planted years ago, and which have died or been destroyed.

There are, it is said, some 6,000 "replacements" to be made. That many trees for the taxpayers paid out good money in days ago have been torn down by vandals, or have died from natural causes. It will take four years at the present rate to make up for this loss.

The City Engineer is appealing to householders to protect the newly-planted trees.

The need of the appeal is obvious. That it has been made is not at all remarkable to some ideas as to the use and care of public property.

It is time to tighten up the enforcement of the law in that regard.

While he is at it, the Engineer should appeal to the city council to reconsider its decision to cut out the low row allowed to house-holders

for water with which to sprinkle their gardens and lawns—and the fronting boulevards. If the house-holder leaves his hose in the basement this summer, the water will be cancelled,

a good many of the newly-planted trees will die of thirst in the hot weather.

ROADS TO THE PARKS

Premier Aberhart would like the Dominion to put up two dollars for one supplied by the province, with which to build highways to the one, outside the University and aside from its interests, the people of the province will also feel that they are losing a sort of unofficial guide, one upon whose quietly-stated opinions they have come to place great reliance.

Dr. Wallace came to Edmonton eight years ago, from the University of Manitoba. It has been his lot to administer and direct the affairs of "Biology" through the incomparably difficult years of the depression. That he has done so with rare tact and skill, the record is the proof.

His standards and his personality are known throughout Canada and beyond Canada, have strengthened and grown with the years.

But Dr. Wallace has been much more than an administrator of University affairs. He has also been a leader, in the best and finest sense of the term, the more effective in his leadership

because of the unassuming way in which his counsel was given. He is the type of man who radiates cultural influence. His students will keep the memory and the impress of his thoughtful lectures and his personality. And outside their ranks that influence has been a force for sanity and steadiness in a time of stress and turmoil.

Congratulations are due to Queen's University on its good fortune. To the Government of Alberta is left the very difficult task of finding a satisfactory successor.

THE PASSING SHOW

History is always good reading. Someone has made a record of the passing of Sir

Hon. H. A. L. Fisher's career in "A History of Europe." For six years Mr. Fisher was President of the Admiralty, and during those years filled many important positions in the academic and political life of England.

The third volume—following previous volumes on ancient and medieval Europe and the periods of Renaissance, Reformation and Revolution—deals with the Liberalism as Mr. Fisher's third volume. It is of course, greater than political Liberalism, which forms a part of it.

Dr. J. S. Cooper

Professor of General Literature at Stanford, who has his credit a volume on "The Napoleonic

Legends," says of Fisher's third volume:

"I have been reading European histories

for nearly fifty years. I have read this one,

all the three stout volumes of it, in which there is not a new fact and not a new idea without a supporting line and without a single page. This, I verily believe, is no faint praise."

Britain has been rich in Parliamentarians

who have written histories from Macaulay, to the present day Buchan, Churchill and Belloc.

A few days ago, Dr. D. Baker issued me some ancient copies of the London Times of nearly 150 years ago. They are sources of historical information of that period. They contain the first descriptions from the battle of Copenhagen, the Nile and Trafalgar, the funeral of Lord Nelson and the first dispatch from

Wellington, announcing the victory of Waterloo.

Under the heading "Lord Nelson's Last Moments" appears the following story in the issue nearest the battle of Trafalgar.

"When Lord Nelson was shot, and was yet in the arms of the man supporting him,

his eye caught the taller rope, which was emphasized: 'Tighten that rope there!' and eminent proof that his professional ardour

life. When he saw his secretary and friend

Mr. Scott, thrown overboard, uncertain of the fulfilment of the fight, whether it was his or not, he inquired with affectuous ardour: 'Was that poor Scott?'

An impression seems to be made on Lord

Nelson, who he said: 'Don't let me be thrown overboard! Tell Hardy to carry me down.'

The death scene, without the well-known

"Kiss me, Hardy" (or was it "Kismet, Hardy")

is described as follows:

"A few minutes before he expired he sent for Captain Hardy, when the captain came and he required him to take his last words. The captain replied that he as nearly as he could ascertain, fifteen sail of the line were still afloat. Captain Hardy

then with that fervent piety which strongly marked his character, returned to the Admiral's side, and, kneeling, said:

Recipe Book And Sense Makes Bride Good Cook

By MARY E. DAGUE

Dear Bride, don't be scared. Science has been good to you with all its aids of fool-proof equipment and wonderful food-stuffs. Just use your common sense and a good cook-book in your new job. A reliable recipe will tell you how much of each ingredient you need, how long to cook and at what temperature. And remember that those cook-books tell you just what to do when you are in a pinch. They tell you just what to do when you are in a pinch. They tell you just what to do when you are in a pinch.

USE STANDARD MEASURES

You will need standard measuring cups and spoons to measure the ingredients. An ordinary coffee cup or teacup never should be used because there is an appreciable difference in the capacities of the various cups and that difference may mean the ruin of a recipe. A tablespoon means a standard measuring spoon, full and while the difference between that and any other tablespoon may seem slight, the best results are obtained by using accurate measurements.

It is time-saving to have two measuring cups, one for liquids and one for dry ingredients. The sets of cups are specially convenient in measuring fractions of cups because it's much easier to stroke off the amount accurately than to measure half or whatever quantity in the cup according to the mark.

Flour is sifted once before measuring. It should be piled lightly back in the cup and the cup tapped to fill the air holes, but it should not be packed.

All dry ingredients such as sugar, salt, soda and baking powder should be sifted to free them from lumps. Brown sugar should be melted before measuring.

LEVEL OFF SPOONS WITH KNIFE

To use a measuring spoon, fill it full and level it off with a spatula. Cupfuls are measured the same way. The material is piled above the top of the cup and then a spatula or the blunt edge of a case knife is drawn across the top. Never dip a measuring cup into your mix and call it measured accurately.

To measure one-half spoonful, divide the whole spoon lengthwise, after leveling. You really need a set of standard measuring spoons that consists of tablespoon, teaspoon, and one-half teaspoon.

It's amazing how soon accuracy becomes a habit. Once this habit is established, it's very easy to have perfect results. Every time in baking is really a science as well as an art and it's quite as definite as two plus two.

Manners Of The Moment

By JEAN LYON

We women are opposed to relaxation without representation.

Some men always seem to know exactly what their dates want. They can't do it. They can't do it. They can't do it.

Either extreme. O. R. Barton is less satisfactory than a safe middle course, because the one who adopts the first method either may lose his new venture or may be on the sudden impulse. On the other hand, the one who forces his way into a party to persistently in building nothing for the future. The man who only gets weary and impatient but ceases to think for himself.

WARREN BUT DON'T NAG

The street scene is typical of the child's whole existence. If mother calls out to Lucy to pull up her skirt, she will not do so. If mother calls to him to pull up his pants, he will not do so. If mother calls to him to pull up his pants, he will not do so.

Go to the other hand, the one who forces his way into a party to persistently in building nothing for the future. The man who only gets weary and impatient but ceases to think for himself.

THE WRITERS OF THE CONSTITUTION DID NOT INTEND FOR THE PRESIDENT OF THE U.S. TO BE ELECTED BY THE PEOPLE.

The Constitution of the United States, contrary to general belief, makes no provision for the election of the President by the people. It was a compromise between those who wanted the President elected by the people and those who wanted him elected by the electors.

The Constitution provided that electors should be elected by the electors. The electors were to be chosen by the legislatures of the states. The electors were to be chosen by the legislatures of the states.

Any state could, even today, decide to elect its electors by popular vote. But no state has done so. The original intention of the framers was to have the electors chosen by the legislatures of the states.

Don't Overeat And You Will Maintain Figure

By GLADYS GLAD

In that glamorous story of Diamond Jim Brady, it is said that the reason that he was able to consume such large quantities of rich and expensive foods was because his stomach was stretched to six times the size of that of an ordinary individual. Diamond Jim, you know, was an epicure. And he got great delight out of eating rich foods—foods—food—food!

What man could desire more than anything else, I think is a slender, youthful figure. A fat, bulky figure not only detracts from the loveliness of a girl's appearance, but also tends to rob her of her youthful pep and vivacity. And if there's any one time when excess flesh becomes a discomfiture and a burden, it's during the hot summer months that are rapidly approaching.

Summer, of course, is not here yet. Yet that is such an easy time to lose that an early resort to diet should do no harm. It is a mystery to me how anyone could possibly prefer the discomfort of the result from overeating during the winter, to the summering of the body is satisfied with far less fuel than in the winter, you know. Rich, heavy, fatty dishes are just naturally supplanted by light salads and vegetables and fruit dishes. And as a consequence, a well-planned diet, like the one the only one called in this "New Figure" booklet, is very simple to follow, because the foods involved are those that comprise most ordinary warm weather dishes.

Food is required chiefly as fuel for the work of the body. Our bodies must do something with every morsel of food that they put into them. If we eat only enough to fulfill our bodily requirements, our weight remains normal. If we eat too much, the excess is stored up on the body fat. And this reduces our intake, our bodies draw upon this fat reserve, and our weight actually decreases. It is only when the amount of food consumed daily is used up in energy that the weight remains normal and excess flesh does not accumulate on the body.

Every girl should need to it during the warm weather that she eat just enough food to enable her body to do its daily work with ease—and no more. The more work she does, the more the food she needs.

DISTILLED AND B

Mr. Longman said that he could give no advice as to whether farmers should seed now, if they have not already done so.

"It all depends on the weather," he said. "If frost holds off in the early autumn, it would be possible to seed later than this and still get a crop, but if any early frost comes, it is better to seed now."

LOOKING THEM OVER

By JACK KELLY
Medicine Hat Keeps Ike Davis—
Golfers' Field Day Washed Out—
Mack Guesses Right Again

Medicine Hat's decision last night to retain the Davis and his Californian ball players will do much to clear the air and speed up action in forming the long hoped for Central Alberta League of Wetaskiwin, Ponoka and two Edmonton teams. While hopes have been held that Davis would come here to field a team in Renfrew Park, his decision to stay in the south by no means kills the prospect of a circuit here.

Much of the hold-up in negotiations has been the result of waiting to see what Medicine Hat and the Davis would do. Edmonton interests working on the idea that Davis would be an ideal man to field one team here. Now that it is definitely out of the picture, negotiations with several other prospective managers should rapidly come to a head.

On the face of it, the proposed southern Alberta semi-pro league of Medicine Hat, Lethbridge and Calgary with three teams looks like a money loser. However, both Medicine Hat and Lethbridge feel that a good baseball team is a big business asset to them and the sporting clubs are probably prepared to make up a deficit at the end of the season. On the other hand, the operation of a club in Calgary is almost certain to be a terrible financial headache with no organization prepared to ante up when the gate receipts fall below expenditures.

If the three southern clubs were closely grouped together like those in the proposed Central Alberta League and Calgary had a ball park and fans, the loop would probably make money. As it stands now, you have to be quite an optimist to look at the costs involved and see anything but red ink. Travelling costs involved are no high that last summer it was found impossible to run three southern cities to even play a round of exhibition ball.

Golf and Soccer Washed Out

Whatever else he may be, the weatherman does not appear to be interested in soccer. Last night for the second time the scheduled start of the senior season was ruined out. If by any chance there was no rain, Saturday the leather booters will finally get started at Diamond Park with the Civics drawn against the Callies. City soccer officials feel certain that despite the almost steady stream of difficulties they have met so far they will be able to offer a brand of football that will hold plenty of interest.

Edmonton golfers also got a set-back as a result of Wednesday's storm. The first of the series of field days under the auspices of the Alberta Golf Association, billed for Mayfair, was completely ruined out. Since next Wednesday is not a half-holiday, the first golf field day will be staged at the Highlands Club on June 3. The rain-outed Mayfair event will be the final one of the five that are planned.

At least one new club and course will be added to Alberta golf this summer when play starts at Ponoka. For some years efforts have been underway to get a club started at this town and they finally produced results last summer. Acreage was obtained a half mile from the town and a lot of ground was cleared. Five or six holes are expected to be ready for play shortly. The course appears over rolling wooded hills with an abundance of natural hazards that will make it enough to suit most golfers. The layout commands a magnificent view of many miles along the valley of the Battle River.

With courses now at Wetaskiwin, Ponoka, Lacombe, Red Deer, Stettin, Sylvan Lake and others, it is expected that a lot of interesting inter-club golf will develop in the central part of the province.

Cornelius Macgillivuddy Laughs Last

When Connie Mack started selling his collection of ball stars a few years ago, the boys shook their heads and said they would not touch them. They were forced by money-hungry batters to sell the bone and blood which might carry him to another world championship. Quaker city fans when Mack took Lefty Grove to market for a socket of cash. They had not yet valued again when he gave Foxe, Cramer, McKee and Marcum to Mr. Yawkey for a $400,000 consideration.

However a lifetime in baseball had taught this lean Irishman something about the growth of the waiting wild did not know, namely that the fans are more interested in watching players develop into first magnitude stars than in watching first magnitude stars. Furthermore there is a well established fact in baseball that there is a point at which it becomes bad business to retain a galaxy of high priced talent.

Last year there were players who have told you very definitely and pointed out that the above was utter puffery, yet even today. This season Billy Park is enjoying the best attendance it has had in years as Connie Mack builds a new constellation of stars. The pay roll of the Athletics is a mere shadow of what it used to be while the club's bank account is jumping by leaps and bounds. All of which merely proves that there is more to baseball than winning games.

The Glamorous Adventure

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GAIL EVERETT, winner of the John Lane costume design prize, comes to town today to find work. She has just finished her last job in the past three years at MISS CRAN—due to Miss Cran's generosity and friendship for Gail. Gail arrived with a letter from LARA, a girl who is his office and would be in out of town. DEREK HALL, CRAN's assistant, advised her to go to MADAME LIZETTE, a designer who had just moved to the job and was to work next morning. Her lunch hour is out and she is hurrying back to the shop when, just ahead, a young man from an automobile.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Then I guess I'll go," said Gail, rising and cleaning her brush while she studied her painting through half-closed eyes. "Say, that gorgeous! I bet Madame will like that. Oh, well, if she doesn't—and when she's worried about Rex (that her son she often calls crazy)—just never mind her. She gets out of it especially if some of her pet customers are pleased with the sketches she shows them."

So Madame had a son, thought Gail, as she quickly got ready to go out. Clit's warning words were still ringing in her ears when she reached the street. "Don't be late, Miss Everett, if you take a tip from a model."

Gail glanced at her wrist watch. It was 20 minutes past 12. She had to hurry through her lunch. Directly across the street was a smart-looking room. Maybe she'd better go there. Still, she was often rather slow in these places that cater to women of leisure. Gail remembered passing a drugstore on her way to work that morning. The proprietress, who at the corner, as she hurried toward it. A cup of coffee and a sandwich would have to take the place of anything more substantial today. She did not risk rousing Madame's wrath the first day!

But fate often means an untold resolution! As Gail left the drugstore, a luxurious car pulled to the curb and a young man, the figure of an athlete stepped out.

"But when am I going to see you again?" Dick asked.

The Gumps

WHY DON'T YOU TALK TO HIM? FIND OUT WHAT'S WRONG—SOMETHING'S GOT HIM WORRIED—IT MIGHT EVEN BE HIS WILL—

ALL RIGHT—QUIT NAGGING—YOU'RE ONE WOMAN WHO DOESN'T HAVE TO BE IN AN AUTO TO BE A BACK SEAT DRIVER—

BIM IS OFF HIS FEED—NEEDS A REST—I'LL MAKE HIM TAKE A VACATION—IT MEANS LOTS OF EXTRA WORK, BUT I EAT WORK—

HA-HA / THE OLD WINDBAG IS AT IT AGAIN! HE EATS WORK! SURE HIM AND THE BUTTERFLIES—

Moon Mullins

DON'T FORGET HONEY—TWO BOTTLES OF GINGER ALE AND A POUND OF DEPOSITED LUMBERG CHEESE FOR THE SANDWICHES—

WHY, WILL YAM!

DON'T "WHY, WILLIAM" ME, WOMAN!—ANSWER ME "YAS" OR "NOY" WAS YOU OR WAS YOU NOT ENTERTAINING A MAN HERE DURING HIS ABSENCE?

WELL OF COURSE THAT AIN'T FOR ME TO SAY HOWEVER, DEARIE—I DONE THE BEST I COULD!

AM, GOLF BAG! THAT'S A NEW GOLF FOR A HITCH-HIKER.

GET MANY RIDES! I NEVER SAW THE INSIDE OF A COLLEGE, EITHER.

TOGETHER WE OUGHT TO PICK UP A RIDE IN A HURRY, BUT WHY WALK?

IM NOT HITCH-HIKING. IM PLAYING GOLF ACROSS THE COUNTRY.

GOLF! I GAVE YOU TOO MUCH CREDIT.

Gasoline Alley

AM, GOLF BAG! THAT'S A NEW GOLF FOR A HITCH-HIKER.

GET MANY RIDES! I NEVER SAW THE INSIDE OF A COLLEGE, EITHER.

TOGETHER WE OUGHT TO PICK UP A RIDE IN A HURRY, BUT WHY WALK?

IM NOT HITCH-HIKING. IM PLAYING GOLF ACROSS THE COUNTRY.

GOLF! I GAVE YOU TOO MUCH CREDIT.

Soup's On!

WHY DON'T YOU TALK TO HIM? FIND OUT WHAT'S WRONG—SOMETHING'S GOT HIM WORRIED—IT MIGHT EVEN BE HIS WILL—

ALL RIGHT—QUIT NAGGING—YOU'RE ONE WOMAN WHO DOESN'T HAVE TO BE IN AN AUTO TO BE A BACK SEAT DRIVER—

BIM IS OFF HIS FEED—NEEDS A REST—I'LL MAKE HIM TAKE A VACATION—IT MEANS LOTS OF EXTRA WORK, BUT I EAT WORK—

HA-HA / THE OLD WINDBAG IS AT IT AGAIN! HE EATS WORK! SURE HIM AND THE BUTTERFLIES—

Moon Mullins

DON'T FORGET HONEY—TWO BOTTLES OF GINGER ALE AND A POUND OF DEPOSITED LUMBERG CHEESE FOR THE SANDWICHES—

WHY, WILL YAM!

DON'T "WHY, WILLIAM" ME, WOMAN!—ANSWER ME "YAS" OR "NOY" WAS YOU OR WAS YOU NOT ENTERTAINING A MAN HERE DURING HIS ABSENCE?

WELL OF COURSE THAT AIN'T FOR ME TO SAY HOWEVER, DEARIE—I DONE THE BEST I COULD!

EATON'S FRIDAY BARGAINS

Store Opens at 8:30 a.m., Closes at 5:30 p.m. Daily, Including Wednesday. To Call EATON'S, Dial 9-1-2-0.

Clearance of Fine Coats and Suits

With the season just begun, this price reduction on finer coats and suits is excitement indeed. The wool tweeds are all imports — finer checks and patternings, and some of the plainer effects with a "Harris look". Some very full and flaring — especially in the swaggers; others on dapper, fitted lines; some few even boast
